THE SITE HAS RENOVATED ITS LOOK - On the occasion of the fourth Italian edition, the Nitto ATP Finals present themselves to players, fans and partners with important novelties intended mainly to enhance the enjoyment of their experience. To make the days at the Inalpi Arena unforgettable, fans will benefit from a Fan Village that has been totally redefined in terms of space and services. The Fan Village will officially open on November 9th with the 'Family Day', a day on which it will be accessible free of charge to all visitors, who will also be able to 'meet' live the eight doubles pairs qualified for the competition, which will be presented on the Fan Village stage at 12 noon, as part of the 'Meet the Champions' event dedicated to doubles players. With a view to ensuring full integration between commercial activities, sporting activities and catering solutions, the Fan Village pavilions have been extended and redesigned; the total capacity is over 5,200 people, 30% more than at previous editions. Also noticeable is the development of the partner and business pavilion, which will have over 2,700 square metres of dedicated space. The catering pavilion, over 3,200 square metres, will present a wide range of food and wine, also thanks to a second 100-seat à la carte restaurant. All this, with the certainty of not missing a single point of the spectacle on the Inalpi Arena court, thanks to one of the jewels in the crown of the 2024 Fan Village: a LED screen of over 60 square metres. The area dedicated to racket sports (padel, beach tennis and pickleball) and the spaces dedicated to the promotion of federal activities and eSports have also been significantly redefined. At the same time as the great tennis event, the first edition of the Nitto ATP Finals eSeries is also scheduled to take place in Turin, in which the best 8 players of the 'Road To Turin' qualifying circuit meet for the grand finale and the awarding of the title of 'King of eSports 2024'. To enrich and make the Turin experience more immersive and engaging, there are also the lights and colours of the Fan Village façade, completely renovated with a full LED surface and an audio-video animation project that also involves the Piazzale Grande Torino area. A modern, covered and heated connecting canopy - built to link the entertainment and relaxation pavilions with the main court - is another special feature of the project.

MEET THE CHAMPIONS – Before admiring their exploits on the court, the greatest players on the ATP Tour involved in the Nitto ATP Finals will be 'overwhelmed' by the passion and enthusiasm of Turin. This afternoon, November 7th, at approximately 5:20 p.m., fans will have the unique opportunity to ‘greet’ up close the eight champions competing in the singles tournament, who will parade on the ‘Blue Carpet’ set up between Piazza Carlo Alberto and Piazza Carignano. The players will then reach the Teatro Carignano where the ‘Meet The Champions’ will take place.

TURIN AND THE COLOURS OF TENNIS – A city dressed up for the most eagerly awaited tournament of the tennis season. The unmistakable atmosphere of the Nitto ATP Finals has long been in the air in Turin. Under the porticoes of Via Po, in the stretch connecting Piazza Castello to Via Rossini - one of the most popular streets for Torinese and tourists alike - it is possible to visit (until the end of the tournament) a photographic exhibition curated by the FITP, which celebrates the first champions to qualify for the singles and doubles tournaments: faces and stories of the champions who will be the protagonists on the court of the Inalpi Arena, for an exhibition that will be progressively enriched with the profiles of the latest qualifiers, until the ‘champion of champions’ is crowned.

Other photographic exhibitions can be admired (also until November 17th) in other more iconic locations in the Piedmontese capital. Piazza San Carlo is the perfect setting for the ‘Best of Torino’ exhibition, a story in images that retraces the highlights of the first three Turin editions of the tournament. Piazza Palazzo di Città hosts instead the exhibition ‘Court of Champions’, a tribute to the winners of the Nitto ATP Finals.

TICKET INFO – Tickets for the Nitto ATP Finals 2024 are available online at:

<https://tickets.nittoatpfinals.com/it> and <https://www.ticketone.it/artist/nitto-atp-finals>

In addition to ticket holders for the Inalpi Arena, the Fan Village will also be accessible through ‘ground’ tickets at a cost of €10 for fans wishing to soak up the Finals atmosphere. It will also be possible to follow the training sessions of the champions: until November 9th, tickets are available for ‘practice sessions’ on the court of the Inalpi Arena while, until November 15th, fans will have the opportunity to purchase a ticket to access one of the most famous clubs in the world, the Circolo della Stampa Sporting, whose indoor training courts are at the complete disposal of the tournament participants.

We would like to remind you that a 20% discount is reserved for FITP members.

TELEVISION COVERAGE – Once again this year, the Nitto ATP Finals will benefit from extensive television coverage, allowing spectators from all over the world to enjoy the unmissable spectacle that will be staged on the ‘blue’ of the Inalpi Arena. As far as Italy is concerned, the tournament will be visible on Sky Sport, with RAI committed to broadcasting the best match of the day on Rai Due or Raisport.

Furthermore, SuperTennis, the channel of the Italian Tennis and Padel Federation, will follow the event with a studio located in the heart of the Fan Village and another one inside the Inalpi Arena. Through in-depth reports, exclusive footage and interviews, it will offer fans a unique look at the tournament and its 'behind the scenes', immersing them in the magical atmosphere of the competition.

THE FITP'S ACTIVITIES FOR YOUNGSTERS – Thanks to the commitment of the Istituto Superiore di Formazione 'Roberto Lombardi', the FITP is enriching the event with numerous initiatives addressed to youngsters. 'Road to Turin' is a circuit reserved for the Under 11 and Under 13 boy's and girl's teams that the FITP strongly wanted to complete the offer dedicated to youngsters and continue to improve the continuous training work. The final Masters will be played in Turin from November 10th to 17th. Also in Turin, during the week of the Nitto ATP Finals, the Masters of the Junior Next Gen circuit is scheduled, reserved for the Under 10, Under 12, Under 14 male and female categories. On Friday November 8th, the eagerly awaited appointment at Pala Ruffini with the celebration of 'Racquets in Class', the FITP project, in collaboration with the FITeT and recognised by the Ministry of Education and Merit, which has brought thousands of youngsters in every corner of Italy closer to tennis (and not only). Space for the youngest, but that's not all. Turin will also be a prestigious showcase for pickleball, the new racket sport that thus finds its place on the national stage. On the calendar will be the National Master of the Road To Turin circuit, which after the provincial and regional stages will land for the final event on the courts set up in the Inalpi Arena village.

THE FUNDAMENTAL SUPPORT OF THE PARTNERS – The success of an event of such great international importance as the Nitto ATP Finals is possible mainly thanks to the valuable contribution of the Partners. In addition to Nitto, Title Partner of the tournament, Intesa Sanpaolo is confirmed as Host Partner, while Emirates, Lavazza and Lexus continue to be Platinum Partners. Among the Gold Partners, next to EA7 Emporio Armani, Haier, Rolex and Valmora, from this edition is added PIF, the official naming partner of the ATP Rankings, and Rummo. STATEMENTS Angelo Binaghi, President of the Italian Tennis and Padel Federation: “Another year has gone by, and we Italians, in the wake of the results and enthusiasm of the previous edition, have still experienced unspeakable emotions and feelings. The Italian tennis family never stops celebrating: we have Jannik Sinner number one in the world, his Slam triumphs in Melbourne and New York, and the incredible 2024 roster.

Welcome: we are in Turin, at the 55th edition of the Nitto ATP Finals, and Made in Italy is preponderant, with all due respect to all the other Champions competing: along with Jannik Sinner, there are also Simone Bolelli and Andrea Vavassori in the doubles tournament, and it is yet another historic first. We are witnessing an event that had never occurred in the history of our sport. A confirmation of the ‘Italian System’ that has made development, inclusion and training its philosophy of life. The Italian Tennis and Padel Federation pursues, and will always do so, the goal of making our racket disciplines as popular as possible: this year there will also be pickleball on show at the Inalpi Arena, and there will be the novelty of great music taking part in this great week that awaits Turin. You will not be disappointed”.

Andrea Gaudenzi, ATP Chairman: “The Nitto ATP Finals in Turin have reached new heights each year, and we’re thrilled to once again close the season with such an extraordinary showcase of talent. With record-breaking crowds and phenomenal champions who’ve earned their place in this prestigious finale, every ingredient is here for an unforgettable event. We’re proud that the Nitto ATP Finals offers the largest winner’s prize on the men’s tour, with $4.8 million USD awarded to an undefeated champion. Special thanks to our partners, especially FITP and our title sponsor, Nitto, for their unwavering support. As the crown jewel of the ATP Tour, this tournament sets the standard for excellence—an achievement made possible through the dedication of our partners, the players, and, above all, the fans”.

Alberto Cirio, President Piedmont Region, and Marina Chiarelli, Councillor for Tourism, Culture, and Sport Piedmont Region: “Turin and Piedmont are once again at the centre of international sport with the Nitto ATP Finals, a planetary event that brings the eyes of the world to our area and that, once again this year, confirms our status as the capital of major events, starting with the tennis competitions, with the commitment that we are making together with the City Council to host them beyond 2025. The year 2024 is characterised as a record year: we have hosted the Tour de France, the Giro d'Italia, we are preparing for the Nitto ATP Finals and the Italy-All Blacks match, while waiting to concretise the candidature of Piedmont to host the Vuelta in 2025. Investing in major events means investing in visibility and international promotion, and we are certain that Turin and Piedmont will again this year be able to show themselves splendid in the eyes of those who will come here to watch the races or see them on TV”.

Stefano Lo Russo, Mayor of Turin: “The Nitto ATP Finals are returning to our city for the fourth consecutive year, filling it with enthusiasm and pride. Over the last few years, Turin has been able to offer one of the greatest events in tennis an ideal stage for the competitions and a welcoming home for both the champions and the many fans from all over the world who have arrived in ever greater numbers, edition after edition. This success encourages us to continue our efforts to ensure that the link between our city and the Nitto ATP Finals continues beyond 2025. From the outset we have worked in concert with all the other institutions involved to ensure that this occasion becomes a great celebration for the whole city, and this year, with a Village open to all and a packed calendar of events, it will be even more so if possible. Everyone will have the opportunity to experience the fantastic atmosphere on and off the pitch and to meet the champions ready to give Turin and the whole world a great sporting spectacle”.

Andrea Tronzano, Councillor for Budget and Productive Activities of Piedmont Region: “Firstly, i want to congratulate the Italian Tennis and Padel Federation. It is important to emphasize that if this movement works, it is because there is a good organization, with a large number of participants and, among them, there are people who become athletes, even professionals. This does not happen by chance and there is a huge amount of work behind it. So thank you very much to President Binaghi for what he is doing. As Gaudenzi pointed out, you may get older but it is fine as far as the same time you get better.

Now, Turin and the Piedmont Region, are objectively more ready than when this adventure began and we have arrived at a very good level. So I wanted to thank those who are collaborating with this event. An important element to emphasize is how relevant volunteerism is in the organization of sports activities. In bringing the greetings of President Cirio and Councillor Chiarelli, I want to mention that the Piedmont Region is investing 11 million euros for these five years and, from every euro invested, we get eight which equates to about 340 million euros over this five-year period. We have also invested one million euros on all the side events in Piedmont including the Piemonte Open - Intesa San Paolo tournament, and so I also take this opportunity to thank those who are hosting us today. The young generation is a key theme.

We started with 23,000 kids playing tennis but now are 83,000. It means that there are 83,000 families who are committed to supporting the activities of these little athletes who are taking examples from these great champions today. I am glad that the great champion today is Sinner, as was Djokovic, because I think they are two positive examples and we can learn from them. Just look at Jannik's eyes when he makes the point: determined to get to the result but at the same time serene because he knows how hard he has worked to get there. At the end of the day, they are guys like us, normal guys who come from normal families and that's why they know what sacrifice means so that they teach this values to our children".

Sam Strijckmans, Executive Vice President - President & CEO, Nitto EMEA NV: *"As the Title Partner of this remarkable sporting event, Nitto feels privileged to be a part of this prestigious occasion. As a Bank, one of the most important and significant results, in addition to the sporting one for Italy and for the champions who will take the court, are the economic and tourism spin-offs generated, aspects of crucial importance from our point of view. Host Partner means being a point of reference for Turin and the territory, providing resources, expertise, organization and attention to social issues, a distinctive trait of our Group, as demonstrated by the inclusive tennis initiative that we will carry out together with the FITP and the support to the Fondazione Piemontese for cancer research Onlus of Candiolo with "Un ace per la ricerca". THE 2023 EDITION: DJOKOVIC MAKES HISTORY, SINNER ONE STEP AWAY FROM THE DREAM – From the first edition held in Tokyo in 1970 to last year's, the third in Turin. An unmissable event for tennis enthusiasts. It is a long and glorious history of the Nitto ATP Finals, the tournament that awards the title of 'Master' of the year. A title that, in 2023, ended up in the hands of Novak Djokovic for a record seventh time. With a 63 63 in one hour and 43 minutes of play over Italy's Jannik Sinner in the final (thus 'avenging' the defeat suffered by the Italian in the round-robin), the Serbian champion became the successful player in the competition's roll of honour, surpassing Roger Federer who has six wins.

There could not have been a more eagerly awaited final for the fans: the 'old' champion against the emerging star of the circuit. A Sinner who, right after the Nitto ATP Finals, was to take off definitively, winning the Davis Cup with Italy (after 47 years of waiting), the first slam (personal and for an Italian) in Australia and the top of the World Ranking (also in this case, the first Italian to succeed in the feat).

Sinner's performance at the Nitto ATP Finals 2023 was an impressive and memorable ride: four victories for the Italian, three in a row in the group stage - by defeating Tsitsipas (64 64), Djokovic (75 67 76) and Rune (62 57 64) - and then in the semifinals over Daniil Medvedev (63 67 61).

Nitto ATP FINALS, THE ROLL OF HONOUR - 54 editions have been held so far (the 2024 edition will be the 55th): Novak Djokovic leads the ranking of the most successful with seven wins, followed by Roger Federer with six. On the bottom step of the podium, with 5 wins, are Ivan Lendl and Pete Sampras.

Below is the complete roll of honour:

- 1971 Ilie Nastase (Romania)

- 1973 Ilie Nastase (Romania)
