

Information about Nitto

Nitto is a Japanese manufacturer of high-performance materials. Globally, it supplies a wide range of products, such as polarizing films, electric parts and adhesive technologies, indispensable for smartphone and TV displays, industrial adhesive tapes, automotive components and medical supplies.

Staying true to the brand's slogan, "Innovation for Customers," Nitto continues to contribute to a better society and environment through its innovative products and services. Now we aim to be an essential top ESG company, simultaneously solving social issues and creating economic values.

As the title partner of the Nitto ATP Finals, Nitto is proud to support events that share its passion for challenges. Nitto believes that tennis results and corporate results require the same commitment: in both cases the goal is excellence in one's own court.

Since its inception in 2017, Nitto has provided a range of activities to support athletes, tournament staff and fans around the world, working together to make it the best and largest indoor tennis tournament globally. In addition, starting in 2021, Nitto has supplied its taping products for athletics, which have been adopted by the ATP medical team, as the official sports tape of the ATP Tour. In this way, Nitto also contributes to health and safety of professional tennis players around the world.
